HUSBAND - Cyrus Josiah Marchbanks

Josiah's tombstone with dates of birth and death still stands in Tennessee in the part of Overton County that became Putnam County, and it has been photographed.

Information copied by Mrs. A. L. Feltonberger, Sept. 1968, entitled " MARCHBANKS, CANNON, FOWLER, FELTZ, SULLIVAN, STRATNER, HALL, HODGE FAMILIES," from record in possession of Mrs. J. Scott Rutherford (Katie Fay Marchbanks), 203 Cedar Street, Waxahachie, Texas 75165. It was dictated to Mr. Harold D. Marchbanks by his grandfather Josiah Marchbanks and recorded by Mr. B. F. Marchbanks after 1920 and dedicated to his parents, Thomas Calvin and Josephene Pauline (Sullivan) Marchbanks. The name was spelled Binum. After Josiah's first wife died, he gave his two little daughters to his mother to rear in Pendleton District, South Carolina, according to Marchbanks family papers. He married Margret Cannon and went to Overton County, Tennessee. He was believed to have been living there when his wife died. The censuses for Josiah Marchbanks and Margret Cannon do not show the daughters in his household; however, it is possible that at least one lived in Overton Co., TN, near a William Marchbanks household -- in a household headed by Alfred C. Robinson. Since the daughter named Elizabeth married Cumberland Robinson, this may be the right husband. The other daughter supposedly married a Morgan.

"These records copied from the compiled records of Boling Feltz Marchbanks records (pg. 1 to 5 of original handwritten cc) - who lived at time of death in Waxahachie, Texas. He was a son of Thos. Calvin Marchbanks, who was son of Josiah Marchbanks, who was son of William Marchbanks, who was son of George Marchbanks, who came to America with his two sons, George, Jr., and William from Scotland - about 1716 - as best know at this time of writing. April - 1939.

On page 2 of the typescript is the statement: "At the writing of this is copy all of the children of Grandfather Josiah Marchbanks are dead except Uncle George and Uncle Bailey - Aug. 24, 1892 copied by BFM" {Boling Feltz Marchbanks}. On pp. 1-2 of these notes: "Josiah [Marchbanks] married second time to Margaret Cannon, daughter of Russel Cannon who was a son of Simon Cannon from England. Margaret Cannon's mother was a Campbell..

WIFE - Ellen Binum or Bynum

See notes for Ellen's husband. Little is known about her. The Sarah "Sally" Binum who married Josiah Marchbanks's brother Jonathan may have been Ellen's sister.

Ellen may have been the daughter of John Bynum and Elizabeth Sear. For information on the family of John Bynum, see: Robert W. Baird, rwbaird@aol.com, "Bob's Genealogy Filing Cabinet," "William Bynum (c1723 - aft 1800)." <http://home.nc.rr.com/rwbaird/bynum/bynumwilliam2.html>; accessed 24 Jun 2007.

April - 1939.

July 6, 1980, letter from Marchbanks descendant, Sarah P. Brady (Mrs. St. Clair L.), states that the two daughters of Josiah's first marriage were Ann and Elizabeth. Other sources say Mary and Elizabeth. (At that time Mrs. Brady lived in Tucumcari, NM). It is not clear to whom Mrs. Brady was writing; it was a Mrs. Brinkley. Mrs. Brady, now deceased, descended from Sarah Jane Fowler, daughter of Thomas Fowler and Ellenor Marchbanks.

CHILD 2    - Elizabeth "Betsey" Marchbanks

I loved her dearly. She had 5 sons and two daughters -- the oldest was named Calvin for my father. He was a captain. I remember Frank and Joe. (illegible) I don't recall the names of the other son, and daughter was named Fannie and the younger Sallie."

I could not find Elizabeth in the 1850 census; however, she was located in the 1860 Census of Hicory Plains P.O., Pigeon Roost, Prairie Co., Arkansas, p. 81/959, 554/556:
